From Our Rabbi

"Be careful about how you do a small mitzvah, just as if it were a big one, for you do not know the reward of mitzvot." (Avot(2:1

Thomas A. Edison said: "The only time I really become discouraged is when I think of all the things I would like to do and the little time I have in which to do them." Looking at the calendar for May and June, it's clear that there's way too much happening to simply focus on one occurrence. Similar to Edison, I feel overwhelmed by the amount of holidays and commemorations ahead, while having so little room on the page to give each one justice. My solution is to provide a list of important, Jewish, dates to be aware of:

- 1) May 6, 2024 - Yom HaShoah is Holocaust Remembrance Day, observed to honor the six million Jews who perished in the Holocaust during World War II and to commemorate the resilience of survivors. It is held on the 27th of Nisan, unless the 27th would be adjacent to the Jewish Sabbath/Shabbat, in which case the date is shifted by a day.
- 2) May 13, 2024 - Yom HaZikaron is Israel's Memorial Day, commemorating fallen soldiers and victims of terrorism, and was enacted into law in 1963.
- 3) May 14, 2024 - Yom Ha'atzmaut is Israel's Independence Day, celebrating the establishment of the State of Israel in 1948. The Chief Rabbinate in Israel decided during 1950– 51 that Independence Day should be given the status of a minor Jewish holiday on which Hallel be recited. In 2015, Rabbi Shlomo Riskin of Efrat founded Day to Praise, a global initiative which calls on Christians around the world to join in reciting the Hallel) Psalms 113– , (118 with the Jewish people, on Israel's Independence Day.

- 4) May 22, 2024 - Pesach Sheini, or Second Passover, is a Jewish holiday observed on the 14th of Iyar, exactly one month after Passover, allowing those who were unable to participate in the Passover offering to do so. It's often referred to as the holiday of "second chances." Some have the custom to eat matzah during Pesach Sheini in memory of the sacrifice. Among many Hasidic groups, the rebbe conducts a tish/celebration on Pesach Sheini , sometimes including the four cups of wine,

5) May 26, 2024 - Lag B'Omer is a Jewish holiday celebrated on the 33rd day of the counting of the Omer, marking a break in the mourning period between Passover and Shavuot. It's often celebrated with bonfires, music, and outdoor activities, and it also commemorates the life and teachings of Rabbi Shimon bar Yochai. In modern-day Israel, the holiday also serves to commemorate the Bar Kokhba revolt against the Romans.

6) June 5, 2024 - Yom Yerushalayim, or Jerusalem Day, is an Israeli national holiday commemorating the reunification of Jerusalem and the establishment of Israeli control over the Old City during the Six-Day War in 1967. It's observed on the 28th day of the Hebrew month of Iyar. The Chief Rabbinate of Israel declared Jerusalem Day to be a minor religious holiday, as it marks the regaining for Jewish people of access to the Kotel/Western Wall.

7) June 12-13, 2024 - Shavuot is a Jewish holiday commemorating the giving of the Torah at Mount Sinai. It's celebrated seven weeks after Passover and marks the conclusion of the Counting of the Omer. It's also associated with the harvest season and the offering of first fruits in ancient times. Several customs are associated with Shavuot, including eating dairy, reading the Book of Ruth, and staying awake all night learning Torah. It is also, traditionally, the Yahrtzeit of King David and the Baal Shem Tov (founder of Hasidism).

Rabbi Samson Raphael Hirsch taught that, "Each [Jewish] festival takes place at the time of the year when G-d reveals Himself in Nature, in the same way as the deed that forms the basis of the festival reveals G-d at work in the sphere of human history." Regardless of a holiday being a major or minor one, biblically ordained or rabbinically instituted, we cannot begin to guess the importance and significance of one over the other. Nor can we determine which holiday reveals more of G-d's Energy and Light into our reality. Therefore, it might be good practice to celebrate and commemorate every possible opportunity. Each moment of sanctified time may serve as a portal of connection to the Divine. Oprah Winfrey said it best: "The more you praise and celebrate your life, the more there is in life to celebrate."

With Love and Blessings,
Rabbi Dan

MONDAY May 6th

YOM HASHOAH (Holocaust Memorial day) :is a time for meditation, reflection, and somber memorial.

MONDAY May 13th

YOM HA'ZIKARON (Israel Memorial Day): is Israel's Official Memorial Day for her fallen soldiers and victims of terrorism. Falling either in late April or early May every year, Yom Hazikaron is an especially solemn time marked by ceremonies and moments of silence across the country.

TUESDAY May 14th

YOM HA'ATZMAUT (Israel Independence Day) is the national remembrance day observed in Israel for all Israeli military personnel who lost their lives in the struggle that led to the establishment of the State of Israel and for those who have been killed subsequently while on active duty in Israel's armed forces.

From Our President

For many reasons, discussions within the American Jewish community about the state of Israel and, more specifically, issues relating to the Israeli – Hamas War tend to be contentious and heated. For this reason, it has become a topic that is often either avoided entirely or treated in simple ways. This is true within small and large congregations. Israel brings up many emotions for American Jews and connects to deep issues including the experience of anti-Semitism, ambivalence around Jews and power, and conflicting feelings about Jews as victims and victimizers. As the only place in the world where Jews exercise power and are visible in such a distinct way, it is not surprising that Israel and its policies become a place for much of the Jewish “baggage” that we all carry, from the legacy of the Holocaust to being identified as Jewish. At the same time, Israel symbolizes much of what makes us proud as Jews and has the potential to connect us profoundly to our history and our historic potential. Because of the emotional complexity of dealing with Israel, opportunities for real dialogue and discussion of the critical issues facing the Jewish homeland have suffered. Such discussion is worthwhile in and of itself but is also essential in order to overcome the disconnect from Israel that many of our members feel. I feel discussion will also help promote our movement’s active support of a Jewish state that is secure and peacefully living with its neighbors, a place where democracy can flourish.

One of the saddest difficulties is to avoid discussing Israel. This can happen to those on either side of the political spectrum. Those who are critical of Israeli government policy can feel as if they are being told they are not “good Jews”, that they are traitors to even bring up the subject of oppressive policies enacted by the Israeli government. Those who feel supportive of Israel, even if they do not agree with everything that the Israeli government does, feel that they are being branded as right-wing extremists if they dare defend Israel in a group that is predisposed to be critical. In either case, the end result is that we have split our community and been made to feel silenced. Ironically, both those who are critical of Israeli policies and those who are uncomfortable with such criticism often share one fundamental assumption: that the Jewish people, based on our history and our culture, are a people of high values and standards. For those who are pained by the Israeli policy towards Palestinians, there is often a sense of betrayal of the Jewish values of justice and compassion. For those who become defensive when hearing criticism of Israel, there is often an unwillingness to accept that a Jewish government could indeed take actions that are directly contrary to Jewish ethical standards.

Sallee and I recently returned from Israel, a trip that had to be originally canceled because of the events on October 7th. I must admit that I was apprehensive about going but decided that I wanted to go to visit family as well as to support Israel. This trip was different. We did not tour. We stayed at my sister-in-law’s Kibbutz for one week and then stayed at a small hotel for one week. The owner of this small boutique hotel is a Canadian Jew. We spent some time talking to him. He explained the difficulty of keeping the doors open because of the lack of tourism and that many of his employees were serving in the war. I felt bad for him, but also felt good that we were helping him survive. We felt 100% safe. We took many buses and trains while in Jerusalem.

Israel may be losing the public relations war so I encourage everyone to book a trip to Israel and share your experiences to enlighten and benefit everyone.

Due to the recent attacks to Israel from Iran, lets all pray for Israel to survive this latest conflict.

Member Spotlight: Shawn Etz

This month I had the great pleasure to interview our member Shawn Etz. He and husband Kevin and their three lovely children, Benjamin, Deborah and Rachel bring much appreciated joy and enthusiasm to our Shabbat morning services. We cannot help smiling when little Rachel proudly leads the Torah procession and makes certain we all have an opportunity to kiss the Torah Scroll. And it is always delightful to talk during kiddush with teenagers, Benjamin and Deborah about their many school and travel adventures. We look forward to celebrating Benjamin's Bar Mitzvah this December. Shawn is a native Californian and during part of his high school years had the opportunity to study in a small town in the French Alps. It was there that he reconnected with his Moroccan Jewish heritage. After a stint in the army starting at age 17, Shawn then attended University of California at Irvine and graduated with a degree in Psychology and Social Behavior. While working for a Savings and Loan Association, Shawn met Kevin, they married and became the proud parents of their three children. Shawn was extremely involved in his synagogue in Orange County, California and became quite active in the larger Jewish community there. He created a collaborative along with PJ Library to reach out to Jewish families to reconnect them with synagogues and he provided cultural and educational opportunities for so many unaffiliated families.

Shawn's latest outreach project is a program called "Kavod" which is the first of its kind, chavurah, which is dedicated to bringing together Jewish gays and lesbians throughout Palm Beach County. Services range from inclusive Shabbats, family events and wine and cheese gatherings. Shawn expressed how much he and his children love coming to services because of the friendliness and kindness of our members, the traditional Conservative service and the genuine warm approachability of our Rabbi Dan.

I so look forward to see Shawn and family every Saturday and enjoy their sweet presence.

A Prayer for Israel in this Time of War

God, our Strength and Protection, we pray for the State of Israel in this devastating time of war, shock and grief. Our hearts are breaking, God. We pray for the lives of the innocent civilians who have been heartlessly kidnapped by Hamas, bring them home, watch over them, God. We pray for the lives of the soldiers who have been taken captive, we pray for their safe return, shelter them, God. We pray for the souls of the innocent victims who were brutally slaughtered. Send comfort and strength, God, to the grieving. Send healing to the injured, and strength and wisdom to their doctors and nurses. We pray for all our brothers and sisters in Israel in this time of tragedy and crisis.

Watch over Israel, God, spread Your shelter of peace over the land and over all our brothers and sisters who live there. Shine Your light upon Israel's leaders, officers and advisers, innocent blood is calling out to them to overcome all divisiveness and to act with clarity and determination. Protect the men and women who defend Israel, let them be safe and may they be victorious over the Hamas terrorists who attacked our people. Watch over them, God. Hear their prayers. Bring peace, God. Let it rain down from the heavens like a mighty storm. Let it wash away all hatred and bloodshed.

Peace, God, please, God.

God of the brokenhearted, God of the living, God of the dead, gather the souls of the victims into Your eternal shelter. Let them find peace in Your presence, God. Their lives have ended, but their lights can never be extinguished. May they shine on us always and illuminate our way.

Amen

WOMEN'S LEAGUE FOR CONSERVATIVE JUDAISM

Announcing
Our 2023-2024
Kol Yisrael Arevim Zeh Ba'Zeh
Campaign

All the people of Israel are responsible for one another

We strive to make a significant impact through scholarships and programs that benefit students at The Jewish Theological Seminary, Ziegler School of Rabbinic Studies, Schechter Institutes, Seminario Rabinico Latinoamericano and Zacharias Frankel College.

Thanks to the generosity of our donors, we help committed Jewish students become the rabbis, cantors, educators, synagogue administrators, social workers, scholars, researchers and lay leaders of tomorrow.

When you support Torah Fund, you help educate students in New York, Los Angeles, Israel, Latin America and Europe—and you align with those who value learning, knowledge and providing the future generation with relevant skills to fortify the Jewish people.

This pin highlights the word 'arevim,' responsibility. It corresponds to the theme from the Babylonian Talmud, Shevuot 39a, that all the people of Israel are responsible for one another, and we assume that responsibility through our support of the five Conservative/Masorti institutions of higher education.

And so we have come to the end of yet another TBJ Women's League program year, a year of eclectic and exciting presentations and book review discussions. At this time, it is appropriate to recognize and thank those members who made special contributions to our continuing success – to All the participants in Women's League Shabbat; Lenore Glickman-Judaica Shop display window, coffee and "goodies" for our meetings; Valerie Solomon-membership brochure Rebecca Blitman and Andrea Cohan-technical support and Ella support; Sallee Silverman-WL Shabbat and Ella support; Charlotte Hankin-Mah Jongg cards order; Holly Grossman-Book Club facilitator; Liz Thal-flyers, announcements, fund-raising connection and to Zan Liebowitz-listener and advisor.

In addition, to all our 25 members who supported WLCJ International and us through payment of dues. I hope that you read the weekly FABULOUS FLORIDA REGION Shabbat Shalom message, as well as the weekly message from WLCJ International. There, you will find many programs that may be of interest to you.

And so, to the future. With your continued support, we will thrive. To do so, your active participation is needed. There are eight meetings and three Book Club meetings. Three of the meetings already have plans in place. Please share suggestions for the 5 remaining sessions, OR Volunteer to chair and plan 1 of the 5. Take that first courageous step. There will always be women who will help.

TBJ Women's League wishes you a healthy and fulfilling summer.

Women's League Message

Spring Into Action; the Time is Now! October 7th

I feel very fortunate that I was able to attend the WLCJ Florida Region Spring Conference on April 14-15. The conference was held at Beth Torah Benny Rok Campus in N. Miami Beach. This was the first in person Conference since before Covid and everyone was thrilled to be together after so many years of Zoom meetings. Attendees came from all over Florida and we had Florida Region members who travelled from Chicago and Vermont, (their current homes). Our WLCJ Conference Consultant came from Seattle.

The Conference was titled: Spring Into Action; the Time is Now! October 7th: Our Obligation to Respond to the World's Inaction. The meetings began with the Torah Fund Luncheon and Rabbi Rojzman, Beth Torah Benny Rok, gave a wonderful D'var Torah and brief history of his own experience as a recipient of the Torah Fund efforts during his years as a Rabbinical Student. Sunday's other speakers included Rabbi Margie Cella, the WLCJ Educational Programming Coordinator (via Zoom), Cantor Marcos Ashkenazi of Beth Torah Benny Rok, and Cathy Swerdlow, Immediate Past President of the FL Region and current International VP. We ended Sunday with Mincha led by one of our WLCJ members and began Monday with a complete Shacharit service with Torah Readers and service leaders representing woman from all over the Region.

Monday's programming included several breakout sessions and Installation of Officers. Our afternoon speakers included a panel representing WLCJ Mothers of Olim, a mother of a Lone Soldier and the WLCJ NGO representative. (Non-Governmental-Organization) The final speakers were Rabbi Emeritus, Edwin Farber and Rabbi Rojzman sharing their experiences about Israel since October 7. Rabbi Farber was in Israel on October 7 and stayed for a few weeks and then went back for a family Bat Mitzvah and was in Israel during the Iran attack. He had just returned Monday morning.

I would strongly encourage all of our Women's League members to attend the events outside of our local affiliate. WLCJ has so much to offer both locally and nationally and I hope you will consider stepping outside of our own chapter for future programs and events.

Addison Brooke Tart, known to her friends as Addy, resides in Wellington, FL and will be called to the Torah for her Bat Mitzvah on May 18, 2024.

Addison has a passion for selfless endeavors as illustrated through her community service as a teacher's aide at Equestrian Trails Elementary School and Emerald Cove Middle School. She is an honor roll student with a focus on computer information technology. Addison loves to play guitar, play golf with her grandparents, swim, ice skate and her all-time favorite activity, and cruising with her family and friends. Addison's Jewish traditions and family values are reflected in her mitzvahs as she demonstrates love and kindness in her community and to her family and friends. She continues to practice and learn more about her Jewish history during the summers at Camp Coleman.
